Editorial Comment

TINKERING WITH TAXES

Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur M. Burns raised some citizen hackles last week when he told Congress that the administration is considering a "temporary" tax raise, or raises, to "siphon off purchasing power" and dampen inflation. He was seconded by Presidential advisor, Melvin R. Laird.

The rising hackles are warranted. In an economic era of incredible inflation and a near depression, playing with taxes as an economic tool—while consonant with today's modernistic economic theories—is intolerable to an overburdened public.

Even the lollypop attached to Burns' proposed income tax increase, a refund with interest whenever inflation finally tapers off, is of small consolation. Such enforced savings are just another paternalistic example of government telling us what we can do with the money we earn.

And "temporary", of course, has long since become a discredited word in the tarnished lexicon of taxation.

It was of some consolation that Roy L. Ash, Director of the Office of Management and Budget assured an interviewer that the administration had no plans for any tax raise, and that, indeed, a balanced federal budget is not an impossibility for fiscal 1974. Even he, however, pointed to the fact that if spending measures go above the budgeted outlays, it would be up to Congress to provide the added income. Spelled taxes. And at this time this nation does not need a federal income tax increase . . . for any purpose.

All of which merely points up the truism that until Congress can curb its spending tendencies to match a realistic level of revenue we're going to have these alarms and excursions into fiscal folly.

VERNE LONG, of Springville, is a new member of the board of directors of the Porterville Memorial district, succeeding Wes Kutzner, who was not a candidate for reelection. Long, with incumbents Barney Richardson and Ted Cornell, were seated this week for four-year terms. Since the three directors were not contested, no election was necessary.

FINEST RECORDS OF 4-H ACHIEVEMENT ARE SUBMITTED FOR NATIONAL HONORS

VISALIA — Annual search for the finest records of achievement by 4-H Club members is underway aimed at presenting records for outstanding state and national recognition, says Luella M. Scharff, 4-H youth advisor.

Objectives of the 4-H Club Awards and Recognition program is to stimulate greater effort on the part of 4-H Club members, recognize members for their outstanding achievements and project accomplishments, provide additional educational stimulus through scholarships, and to send the state and national winners to the 52nd National 4-H Club congress in Chicago during the Thanksgiving holiday.

Representatives from the 11 San Joaquin Valley counties have met and selected the outstanding 4-H members' records; those named to go on to the state level of competition from Tulare county are: Bob Fallert, Pleasant View 4-H club, Conservation and Natural Resources; Gwen Taylor, Wilson-Dinuba 4-H club, Food Preservation; Danelle Souza, Oak Valley 4-H club, Health; Mark Swall, Oakdale 4-H club, Petroleum Power (Tractor); and Roger Scott, Lindsay 4-H club, Photography.

Vanity Is the Name of the Game In Today's World of Salesmanship

UNCLE CLARENCE
... from CLEAR CREEK

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I see by the papers where these "Who's Who" outfits all over the country is catching down the country on account they invite anybody and everybody to get wrote up in their books and to buy their books. The Government agencies that are trying to "alert the public" are calling these folks the "vanity press."

The wonder to me, Mister Editor, is that it's any of the Government's business. This country runs on vanity, cause that's the stuff that sells everything we use from cars to cigarettes, from clothes to colleges, from toothpaste to automatic garage door openers. The desire to buy is built on making a show with other folks and the products are made to fill the desire.

Actual, all the "vanity press" is doing is telling folks they have "been selected" to be included in such and such a publication. Course, everybody that has a Social Security number or a credit card is important enough to be selected, and fer sure they will want the $25 book that tells all about their reasons fer being famous and successful. This is the oldest selling pitch in the book, and no more brazen than most.

The fellers at the country store Saturday night took up this matter, and it was agreed they made a pore impression on "Who's who" press. Zeke Grubb said his preacher gets selected regular to appear in different books about distinguished people, but the preacher says he just ignores 'em. Zeke's preacher said the only difference between gitting in "Who's Who" and gitting a honorary degree is about $200,000. If you got $25 you can git a book with your name in it, and if you give some college a new library wing you git "Dr." in big type on paper suitable fer framing. It's the same, Zeke's preacher said, as putting something extry in the collection plate to git your name on a stained glass window.

Ed Doolittle said you can thumb through any magazine you pick up and git the same message "Who's Who" is selling. You got to wear your shirt to look successful, the ads tell us, and if you smoke this cigar and drink this whiskey the gals will know at a glance you're first class material. And a encyclopedia salesman never has come to his door, Ed allowed, that didn't start off by telling him about some big shot that bought a set of books, and about how so-and-so down the road recommended Ed fer a set.

Farthermore, Ed went on, this vanity business works backwards as good as forwards. Folks brag about how much they owe, and how much a feller can borrow these days is took as a measure of success. A feller that pays his bills from one month to the next is a "pore risk," but the big operator that can go in debt $30,000 jest by signing his name and paying 10 per cent interest is a fit subject fer "Who's Who in the World of Finance."

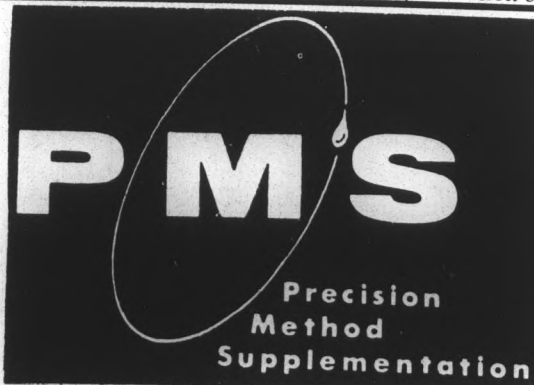

They is a heap of difference, Mister Editor, between growing and swelling, but folks get 'em mixed up.

Yours truly,
—Uncle Clarence.

Robert Matzke President Of Symphony Assn.

VISALIA — Robert Matzke of Porterville is the new president of the Tulare County Symphony Orchestra.

Dr. William Clinite of Tulare serves as vice president and chairman of the concert and orchestra relations committee.

Mrs. Richard MacMillan of Visalia continues as secretary of the association, while Mrs. Chase Hoffman of Tulare serves as treasurer.

Major committee heads include Richard Hatfield of Porterville, budget and finance; David Laughlin, Visalia, financial development; Anna White Garland, Porterville, legal affairs, and Greta Stewart, Strathmore, publicity and ticket sales.

Season tickets are now being offered to well over 1,000 music lovers in Tulare county with the opening of the 1973-74 concert season.

Interested members may mail their checks ($7.50 for adults, $2.50 for students) either to Mrs. David Zack, 1020 Beverly Drive, or Mrs. George Pappas, 316 East Estate Avenue, both in Tulare. The women are co-chairmen in charge of advance season ticket sales.

Individual tickets for each concert at $2.50 for adults, $1.25 for students, are available prior to each concert at sales agencies in each county community.

The season will open October 25, when the symphony orchestra will be joined by the combined choruses of two Porterville high schools, that city's college, and the Porterville community chorus, in a performance of Verdi's Stabat Mater at the Porterville Memorial auditorium. Hansel Rayner of Pepperdine college will be the orchestra conductor that evening.

Supplemental Social Security Applications Now Being Taken

PORTERVILLE — The Porterville social security office is now taking applications for supplemental security income payments, a federal program scheduled to start in 1974 that will establish an income floor for people in financial need who are 65 or over, or blind, or disabled, according to a joint statement made today by Donald W. Chapin, district manager of social security in Visalia and Hilmi Fuad, Tulare County Welfare director.

People already getting state old age assistance, or state aid because they are blind or disabled, do not have to apply, according to Fuad. Arrangements are being made to transfer these people to the new payment system without their having to make a new application.

"The first monthly payments under the federal program will be made in January 1974," Chapin said. "Until then, local public assistance offices will continue to make payments in the usual way."

People not getting public assistance now who think they may be eligible for the new federal payments should call or write Social Security to find out if they should apply, according to Chapin.

Aim of the new program is to provide supplemental payments in cases of need so that people 65 or over, or blind, or disabled throughout the country have a basic cash income of at least $130 a month for one person and $195 a month for a couple, Chapin said.

States may add to the basic federal payment, according to Fuad. The amount that California will add has not been finally settled but regulations are being developed that will continue present grant levels until the legislature takes final action.

CAUSES OF MOBILE HOME BREAKDOWNS BEING STUDIED BY HIGHWAY PATROL

SACRAMENTO — The California Highway Patrol will analyze mechanical and structural failures that cause mobile homes to break down on the highway during a six-month period that started October 1, Commissioner Walter Pudinski said.

If facts warrant, the information collected would be used in support of legislation upgrading structural and tire standards.

Mobile homes are oversize vehicles transported by permit. Their extra width can produce unusual traffic hazards when breakdowns force them to park at roadside, particularly along freeways.

The study calls for a report of every breakdown or accident involving a mobile home, with emphasis on tire failures, deficient side coverings, and faulty frames, hitches, wheels, tongues, axles and suspension.

Pudinski said the Patrol, and the Trailer Coach association, "in 1969 agreed on voluntary engineering standards to solve the breakdown problem," but that "breakdowns and accidents have not been satisfactorily reduced."

The Commissioner said that regulatory legislation "would be sought when the study is completed March 31, 1974, if the information shows there are problems which should be corrected."

DAIRY CALF RAISING BEING TAUGHT IN ADULT CLASSES

PORTERVILLE — Dairy calf raising, a special short course, is being conducted by Porterville Adult school on four successive Wednesday evenings beginning October 3, at Porterville High school. The class, taught by Ben Arnold, Strathmore high school agriculture instructor, is featuring guest speakers, discussion, and a provision for sharing successful ideas.

STATE SALES TAX DROPS TO FIVE PERCENT

SACRAMENTO — A one percent reduction in the state's sales and use tax rate became effective on October 1, when the state's sales tax rate dropped to five percent, the level where it was prior to the July 1 increase.

The new lower tax rate will remain in effect for six months, at which time on April 1, 1974, the tax is scheduled to increase one cent on the dollar.

OUR TOWN

By Ruth Loyd

The P.U.H.S. class of 1925 is going to have a reunion the 20th of this month. The committee has been working hard getting names and addresses, and they met at Gang's last Thursday to report, and talk about what a mean little kid OREN SHEELA was when he was in school. OREN tried to defend himself, but his buddies had the eyeball memories. The principal at that time kept a strap hanging near the door of his office, for all to see, and he used it on poor OREN. They wouldn't tell me what OREN did to deserve this treatment, but his escapades must have been fantastic. One coach got so mad at OREN that he threw OREN'S football uniform up into the stadium seats. I didn't dare ask what OREN wore for the game.

OREN and LEAH found each other in their junior year, and have been going together ever since. Last Thursday was LEAH'S birthday so the SHEELAS and neighbors NELS and SALLY MADSEN helped them celebrate at the Hillside. OREN sings a lovely Happy Birthday tooo yuuuuuu.

There are three things that can start a good argument around OUR TOWN. Politics, religion, and what is OUR TOWN doing to Main street. The last subject can get wild. I like much of the new look, but the barriers at the end of the blocks leave me guessing. It certainly will cut down on the bicycles on the sidewalks, and the more athletic can always hurdle the little adobe walls, but dear ole ladies like me, have to walk around. I don't get it. The planting looks lovely, and the customers from the Frontier will now be able to sit on the nice benches instead of leaning on the store fronts, but we will have to wait to find out what to do about the barriers. Very unusual!

ELMER and VENA ROBINSON have moved from their home on Villa to the A and A Mobile Home Park on Plano. The ROBINSON'S are avid gardeners and VENA called to give me some advice on the growing of tulips. She said that bugs don't bother tulips, but gophers think they are great. In fact, you can stand admiring your tulips and presto the tulip disappears under the ground. Dinner for some hungry gopher. Now, that's all I need, a bunch of hungry gophers who can't even speak Dutch, gulping my precious tulips. I've just about had it with crickets this year, and now to worry about hungry rodents. VENA says that there is a type of Oleander that keeps gophers away, but MADELYN KECK tried to look it up and couldn't find a name. MADELYN says castor beans help detour gophers, but who wants a bunch of castor beans. Another thing MADELYN told me about, was how to keep aphid away from roses. Plant a set of onions around your roses,

20 Percent Increase In Cotton Planting Expected Next Season

FRESNO — A 20% increase in cotton planting in the San Joaquin valley is anticipated for 1974, speakers reported at the annual meeting of the California Planting Cotton Seed distributors in Porterville.

Tom Cherry of Bakersfield, manager, announced a total of 19,800 tons of planting seed will be harvested and saved this fall to accommodate the 1,080,000 acres it now appears will be planted next year in the six cotton growing counties of the valley. This year's total plantings have been about 900,000 acres.

Available for general planting next year will be the new variety, Acala SJ-2, which consistently has outyielded the present variety, SJ-1, by 7 to 8% in extensive trials. A limited supply of SJ-1 seed also will be available in 1974, should individual growers prefer it.

Dr. H.B. Cooper, location leader at the U.S. Cotton Research station at Shafter, announced a decision will be made early next year on a possible release of a new variety, T-1307. If approved, a limited amount of this seed would be available in 1974 in areas where verticillium wilt is a severe problem; T-1307 has shown a significant tolerance to wilt in field tests.

Don Camp of Bakersfield, president, said the organization several years ago endorsed the concept of multiple strain release so long as the industry's marketing position is maintained.

Camp explained that San Joaquin Valley cotton continues to command a substantial premium over other Western cottons because of its fiber uniformity and strength. All cottons being considered for next year are of the Acala family and have uniform quality and spinning characteristics.

Cotton provisions of the new farm bill passed by the last Congress were described by Tony Coelho, administrative assistant to Cong. B.F. Sisk of Fresno, a member of the House Agriculture Committee who was instrumental in securing the legislation.

and no aphids. I wonder if the onions end up smelling like roses or the other way around. I might get to be a gardener yet, now that CALVIN has put our back yard into redwood chips and rock.

Happiness is friends who call and chat.

At an organizational meeting of the board of directors, Camp was re-elected president; Bob Wood of Firebaugh was re-elected vice-president; Jack Cardwell of Kerman was elected secretary, and Tom Cherry of Bakersfield was re-elected treasurer and manager.

TEN NOMINATED FOR FIVE SEATS ON CHAMBER BOARD

PORTERVILLE — Ten names have been submitted for five seats on the board of the Porterville chamber of commerce, with ballots to be mailed to chamber members on October 15 and results announced after noon, October 24.

In a report submitted last Thursday morning to chamber directors by John Keck, of the nominating committee, the following persons were placed in nomination: Al Berra, D.D.S., orthodontist; Doug Fowler, president of the farm management division of W.D. Fowler & Sons; Evelyn Hall, Central Business bureau; Will Hansen, real estate broker.

John Jensen, Jensen's stationery; Norman Polly, manager, Porterville office California Department of Human Resources Development; Bill Shurtz, manager J.C. Penney Co.; Bob Squires, Equitable Life Assurance society; Vic Taormina Jr., building contractor; and Vic Young, optometrist.

Parties Planned For Art & Annie

There is some reason to believe that Doc Small's Medicine Show troupe, along with assorted and unassorted trail tramps and saddle bums, will gather at the Mountain Lion saloon the night of October 12 to honor (sic) Annie Oakley Thrall and The Village Idiot Art Thrall, both stellar performers in the medicine show. The following Friday, October 19, Art and Annie will be guests at a Porterville Area Pilot's association wiener roast on the Porterville airport. The Thralls plan to hit the trail and leave Porterville shortly after Veterans' day.

Average production of milk per cow in California in 1972 was 1,560 gallons annually, up from 977 gallons 20 years ago.

ENTERTAINMENT, DOOR PRIZES AT BARN GUILD FASHION SHOW

PORTERVILLE — Entertainment, door prizes, champagne punch, and hors d'oeuvres will add to the festive atmosphere of third annual Fashion show that will be staged by the Barn Theater Guild in Gang Sue's Lantern room, Tuesday, October 9, at 7:30 p.m.

Twenty stores will provide the latest men's and women's fashions for the show; commentator will be Beverly Gorne; funds raised will go toward carpeting for the Barn theater interior.

Providing entertainment during the evening will be Bob Anderson, Ann Gilbertson, Ben DeBurle, and Alice Tice.

Admission is $2.00 per person; the public is invited.

Participating stores include: The Vogue, Leta Word, Porterville Pro Golf shop, All-American Western, Clare-Retta, The Seat Cover, The Pants Depot, Bullards, Ruth's, The Uniform Shop, Emmy's, Linda Vista Swim and Racquet club, Trend-O-Fashion, Baby News, Wanda's, Juven-Aire, Penney's, Montgomery Ward, Figueroa's, Don McWilliams, Reisig Shoe and Cassidy Shoe.

Turkey producers in the 26 major producing states plan to keep 15 percent more breeder hens for 1974 than during the past year.

NEW DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC WORKS TAKES OVER OCT. 15

PORTERVILLE — James J. Hudak, currently director of public works for the City of Claremont, has been appointed the new director of public works for the City of Porterville.

Hudak fills the vacancy left by former director of public works, Wayne Harris, who resigned to go into private business locally.

Hudak received his Bachelor of Science degree in Civil Engineering from Cleveland State University in 1956. He began his career in civil engineering as a junior civil engineer with the City of Cincinnati; he has worked for the State of California, division of highways, as an assistant civil engineer, and was associated with James M. Montgomery Consulting Engineers, Inc., for two years as an assistant civil engineer.

Hudak was employed by the County of Ventura from 1964 to 1969 as an associate civil engineer and section head. He became city engineer for the City of Pomona after having served as assistant city engineer in 1970, before going to Claremont.

Hudak will assume his Porterville duties beginning October 15.

on 4-H Chuckwagon breakfast, October 6, and on 4-H Sunday were given by Mesdames Robert Fallert and A.P. Holtermann, community leaders.

Davis conference reports were given by Ronald Santry, Joe Fallert, Nan Faure, Eddy Farquharson, and Gloria Almeida. Pam Holtermann reported on a citizen's short course trip; Mrs. John Almeida reported on activities as a chaperone on the Davis trip.

President Gloria Almeida presided at the meeting; flag salute was led by Madelyn Bays, and 4-H pledge by Marty Codorniz.

Autenrieth Speaker For Citrus Club

LINDSAY — An active program is planned by the Citrus Men's club for the 1973-74 year with Robert H. Autenrieth, vice president of Sunkist Growers for fresh fruit marketing, slated to address the first meeting Friday, October 26.

James J. Hurley of Lindsay, secretary, announced the noon luncheon meeting will be held in the Exeter Memorial building. All persons interested in the citrus industry of Central California are invited to attend. Reservations are not necessary.

The club also will elect officers at the initial meeting. The panel the past year consisted of Duane Hickerson, Ivanhoe, president; Milt Burtner, Porterville, vice president, and Hurley, secretary.

The average consumer eats more than four-fifths of a ton of food each year.

Two Queens

Working with the Veterans' Homecoming committee are Donna Balcombe, senior queen contest, and Diane Larson, junior queen contest. MC for the queen selection ceremony will be Bill Rodgers; providing music will be a pit band directed by Buck Shaffer.

Coordinating the contest is Fred Canada, customer service manager in the awards division at Josten's, who was coordinator for the Miss Santa Barbara pageant when he was a resident of Santa Barbara.

All contestants are sponsored by a community organization; judging is on a basis of personality, poise, general appearance, and ability to speak.

The Saturday night program is open to the public; there is no charge.

community for $1.25 but will be $1.50 at the breakfast; children five years and younger are free; funds raised go to participating clubs for community and general-type club programs.

Special feature during the morning will be annual hog calling contest, with Darrell Frazier, junior hog calling champion of the California State fair, and Howard Snyder, senior champion hog caller of the Los Angeles County fair, to act as judges.

Frazier is a member of the Oak View 4-H club in San Joaquin county; Snyder is the mayor of Ontario in southern California.

These two experts will demonstrate the fine art of hog calling prior to each division of competition at the breakfast; trophies will go to first and second place winners in each division; hogs are being provided by C.A. Pace; Ardith Eggman, of Terra Bella, will be in charge of the contests, which will start with juniors at 7:15 a.m. followed by senior division and adult division.

Much of the food and materials used for the breakfast are donated or provided at cost. The Chuckwagon breakfast, with Mrs. Les Brown, of the Terra Bella 4-H club serving this year as wagon master, annually is the largest event of its kind in the area, and probably the largest 4-H event of this nature in the nation.
